COMMITTEES TO MEET AT Y. M. C. A. TO PLAN FOR BOYS CONFERENCE

Plans Under Way To Hold Largest and Best Meeting In State

There will be a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow noon of the General Committee in charge of the Older Boys' Conference which is to be held in this city within the next ten days. At tomorrow's conference reports and plans for the several sub-committees will be submitted. It is planned to have each committee lunch at a separate table and immediately afterward to meet with the general committee for making reports.

November 26, 27 and 28, Salem is to be the host to approximately three hundred boys who will come here from all parts of the state for the purpose of attending the Older Boys' Conference which is conducted annually under the auspices of the State Committee of the Y. M. C. A. with the Sunday School Association of the state co-operating. One of the unique features of the Older Boys' Conference is the method in which the boys are entertained. The homes of the city are thrown open to the boys and they are there entertained with no expense to the boys or the Conference. This makes it possible for a great number of boys to attend the conference rather than a select few. The entertainment committee consisting of George P. Rogers, Jos. H. Albert and Paul Wallace is already receiving requests for boys who desire entertainment and from present indications there is little doubt but that Salem will have the greatest Older Boys' Conference ever held in Oregon.

SALEM BANKS SHOW $76,000.00 INCREASE IN YEAR'S DEPOSITS

Hop and Wheat Crops Remaining Unsold Cause Unusual Condition Now

Bank deposits in the city of Salem have increased approximately $76,000 in a year according to a comparison of the statement called for October 31, 1914, with the call of November 30 of this year. This is considered a good showing in view of the fact that there was little fall business this year as the prune and clover seed crops are the only ones that have been sold to any great extent and the wheat and hop crops are still being held by the growers. With the proceeds of the two most extensive crops on deposit the increase would be much more extensive.

Some of the banks of this city show a greater increase in deposits than others but in some instances this is due to only a transfer of large accounts. In other instances the bank statement recently called for caught the institution during a flush period and the statement shows an unusual increase. However, the general statement indicates that the people have more money than they had last year at this time, which, in view of the conditions stated above, given an indication of prosperity where it does the most good, in the hands of the small depositor.

The statement of October 31 of last year showed that the four Salem banks had on deposit $4,416,000 in round numbers and on November 10 their deposits totaled $4,492,000.

The full returns for all of the state and national banks have not yet reached the office of the state bank examiner and it will be some time before the statement relative to the state at large is available.

Men's Liberal Club Holds Good Meeting

The Men's Liberal club held a most interesting meeting last evening. A number of new names were added to the membership list. At the close of the routine business President Allen introduced Mr. Allen A. Hall as the first speaker of the evening, who gave a splendid address on the subject: "What Will Be the Value of Military Training in the Public High Schools?" Mr. Hall is a peace man, who neither believes in war, nor in large armies. However, he believes in efficiency. The purpose of military training is not to make butchers of men, or to teach boys how to kill. It is a method of education, teaching boys obedience, order, precision, punctuality, discipline, self-reliance. Military training according to Mr. Hall, is one of the most efficient and scientific methods to teach discipline of mind and body. It should be made a means of cultivating both character and patriotism. An army may become a constructive agency, rather than a destructive machine. The absence of Superintendent Elliott was much regretted.

A spirited discussion followed in which Judge Webster, Stols, Denton, Williams, Mott, Jr., Radcliff, Allen, Robinson and others took active part. The next meeting of the club will be held the first Wednesday of December. "Rural Credits" will be the subject for discussion.

Cherrians Make Changes In Organization's Laws

Hereafter, the Cherrians will not mix business and politics with the annual banquet and ritualistic exercises, customary when new members are taken into the fold. The mixture has never been quite satisfactory, according to the opinion of the majority. Hence, at their called meeting last evening, it was decided to hold the annual election of officers on the first Monday in December and have this all off their minds before that joyous occasion when the banquet will be spread and members initiated, early in January.

And instead of a nominating committee of five it was decided to nominate and elect officers by a direct vote. George Graves, Hal Patton and James Young believed in the new direct primary style, while C. L. Dick and Dr. H. H. Olinger were satisfied with the good old way. It was also decided that the business affairs of the organization should be conducted hereafter on business principles and that no bills shall be contracted or money spent unless upon a requisition signed by King Bing and the secretary.

The dance to be given by the Cherrians on Thanksgiving eve will be rather of an informal affair. All members of the organization will appear in the regulation Cherrian uniform.

Here's what a Salem man, visiting in New York, says:—

"Was on Fifth avenue yesterday and noticed the clothes worn by the good dressers."

"The men's hats, furnishings and clothes were identical with the up-to-date things the Hammond-Bishop Co. show at home."

All of which is true, but we are selling goods in Salem at lower prices than most New York stores feel they can afford to sell for. Everything for men to wear.

"Baby Killer" Is Yelled Over Phone

one," commented Dr. Haiselden tenderly, as he saw the life he had condemned, ebbing out.

Then he answered the phone, only to hear a woman scream imprecations at him.

A touch of bitterness seemed to come into his voice as he returned to the death bed.

"It will be a wrong," he said, "to allow this baby to live."

"It seems to be that a city which lobs a black hand outrage every week, a thousand abortions a day and automobile accident every round of clock, is hardly in a position to criticize a man who holds that death is preferable to the life in a defective."

"Do you think you will be indicted?" Dr. Haiselden was asked today.

"I wouldn't be surprised if the matter went before the grand jury," he answered, "but I am convinced that no body of sane men would indict me."

"Ask some mother whose baby has been killed or maltreated by a defective, what she thinks."

"Ask James Coppersmith whose pregnant wife was unspeakably attacked and killed by Lawrence Pethick, a defective."

Coroner Hoffman announced that he will hold an inquest over the baby's death, summoning six very prominent physicians as the jury.

Meantime doctors, jurists and sociologists are discussing the ethics, the propriety of Haiselden's course. From doctors and men in general the comment has been favorable to him. From many women there has been criticism, yet others approved the course of refusing to let the baby grow to manhood, cursing its own fate, a burden to its family and perhaps to society.

One of the strongest endorsements came from New York, where the Medical-Legal Society passed resolutions praising Haiselden for his action.

States Attorney Hoyne said privately he regarded the doctor as right, though he believed there were technical grounds for his prosecution.

Known Her Baby Is Dead.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Anna Bolinger knows her baby is dead. Her husband today told her that nature has worked its course and taken away the helpless, malformed child whom science could have saved, but who Dr. Haiselden said with the mother's acquiescence, would be better off dead.

The mother was satisfied. She did not want to view the body. This reticence she excused "for the sake of other babes that may come to me." All she knows is that the child was a monstrosity. She was not told that one ear was missing, the other deaf, and that the child's head was sunk between

Willamette Valley Lumber Case Will Begin On Thursday

Portland, Ore., Nov. 17.—Among the cases which will be heard this week by Examiner Butler of the interstate commerce commission, the most important—so far as it affects the general rate situation—will be the Willamette valley lumber case. Mr. Butler will begin the hearing of cases today, when several individual companies will be presented. Friday morning, the "big" case will be opened, wherein the Immanuel Lumber company and the Eastern and Western Lumber company are seeking to have set aside a rate that applies from Willamette valley points to the distributive territory of interior California.

The Portland lumbermen contend that the rate in effect establishes a preferential of about four cents per 100 pounds on lumber milled in the valley. That the district so included is bounded by the south line of the Portland city limits they assert to be proof that the Southern Pacific is deliberately planning to shut out Portland from the benefits of the interior California trade.

The valley mills, on the other hand, contend themselves entitled to a lower rate because of the shorter haul. They say they have no chance to ship their lumber by water to the California ports.

The valley mills are pointing to general discrimination against them in regard to distribution of lumber in districts other than interior California, particularly along the Great Northern, Milwaukee, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and the Soo line, to reach which points the valley mills have to pay the local rate into Portland before the through rate applies.

Its shoulders, while its intestines failed to function. Meantime, persons opposed to Dr. Haiselden's course in declaring to operate on the child, circulated petitions to revoke his license.

Health Officer Robertson favored action to prevent similar future practices. He refused a burial permit for the child, but will grant it later if the coroner so orders.

Corn and Potato Show Already Taking Shape

The Marion and Polk county corn and potato show is beginning to assume definite proportions. Mt. Angel and Aumsville have already shipped their exhibits to Salem. Other exhibits will be received in the near future.

The James Linn building, where the show is to be held, is being heated so that it is an excellent place for drying all corn that is not entirely dry.

Farmers wishing to make individual exhibits may bring them in at any time and leave them with the county agriculturist, or with D. A. White & Sons. All persons wishing to compete for the prizes offered should notify L. J. Chapin as soon as possible in order that suitable space may be reserved.

BANDIT LEAVES NO TRACE.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 16.—Although the city was carefully searched no highwayman who last night robbed the girl cashier of the Model Bakery of $75 while 100 diners looked on.

Revolver in hand he compelled the cashier to open the register and scoop the money into his pocket. The patrons did not realize what was going on until the robber had secured the money. Waving the revolver, he backed out of the door and disappeared.

MARK NEXT FRIDAY ON YOUR CALENDAR

As it is the most important day of this week. Something is going to happen on that day that has never happened in Oregon before—a day set aside for rubber heel day. The Price Shoe company will sell any pair of their new 50 cent rubber heels for 25 cents.
